Webster, of Maryland: Delivered in the House of Representatives, June 19, 1862 The House having under consideration the bill relating to claims for the loss and destruction of property belonging to loyal citizens, and damages thereto by the troops of the United States, during the present rebellion - Mr. Webster said: Mr. Speaker: It has been some weeks since this bill was reported to the House from the Committee of Claims, but owing to circumstances over which the friends of the bill had no control, although a special order, it has been necessary to postpone it upon several different occasions. It is now, however, before the House for consideration, and I trust that we shall continue that consideration until the bill is passed. It is a very important bill to a great many people, and especially to those who live in the border States, or more properly the central States on both sides of Mason and Dixon s line. It is a bill, as its title states, providing for compensation...
